LEAGUE OF NATIONS (Indian Bureau)—Improvement Trust bldg, Esplanade—The main objects of the League of Nations, which has its headquarters at Geneva, are to achieve international peace and security, i.e., to prevent future wars by establishing international relations on the basis of justice and honour, and to promote co-operation, material and intellectual, between the nations of the world. Further, the League recognises that universal peace can be established only if it is based on social justice. The League of Nations is a league of states and its business is transacted by representatives of governments which are its members. It does not abolish the principle of national sovereignty and it is not a kind of super-state with an existence above and outside the states which compose it. Its chief purpose is to bring about an agreement in the clashes of national ambitions and interests which might occur from time to time. It affords to those who really wish to come to an agreement a basis of conciliation. But the League is not a panacea and does not by its mere existence ensure, without the continued goodwill of all civilised countries and without the wholehearted and unreserved assent of the peoples, the automatic solution of every difficulty that may arise. Its main weapon is, therefore, the appeal to the public opinion of the world and to the world's respect for justice. The Indian Bureau of the League of Nations has been established in Bombay with the concurrence of the Government of India, which is an original member of the League. As an organic part of the Information Section of the League Secretariat, the Bureau endeavours to interest public opinion in India in the activities of the League through all legitimate channels. The principal League approach to international public opinion is through newspapers, news agencies and independent journalists. As an official information service the Bureau can only state facts and does not attempt to advocate any particular policy or express opinions. It tries to co-operate with educational authorities and institutions in the task of instructing the youth in India in the aims and ideals of the League of Nations; and national societies and organisations—commercial, economic, medical and social—may keep themselves informed of League developments which are of interest to them through the Bureau. The library of the Bureau containing documents and publications of the league Secretariat is at the disposal of those interested in the study of international questions. The League publications, which deal with outstanding world problems relating to economics, finance, commerce, transit, hygiene and other topics, are stocked and sold by the Bureau. Offr in-charge M V Venkateswaran with that touch of "distinctiveness", has been our motto since we first started in business. Many of the largest firms in Calcutta, and elsewhere in India, have had their printing done by us for the best part of a century and they find that if even they do pay a little more, it

ALWAYS PAYS

Henley means reliability—

High Tension Test Room of the Henley Research Department, Gravesend.

The outcome of much more than a lifetime of experience and carefulness in manufacture are embodied in Henley Cables and Accessories.

That experience prompted us to equip some years ago one of the finest Research Laboratories in the Electric Cable Industry and to staff it with Scientists, Physicists, and Chemists of high degree and famous in their field of endeavour.

That is a SERVICE which has no tangible form—but you get it in Henley Cables, nevertheless!

REASSURING RELIABILITY

THE TEST OF TIME

The real test of V.I.R. wires is the test of time, and the "life" of rubber insulation depends not only upon compliance with accepted standards of dimensions and thicknesses but also upon quality of raw materials and, above all, care in manufacture.

HENLEY C.M.A. wires and cables are manufactured in accordance with the standards of the Cable Makers' Association, the highest such standards in existence.

Specify and use HENLEY C.M.A. wires and cables, and secure an assurance of reliability.

If you pay a little more you cut out risk.

BAHAWALPUR STATE—Punjab

A Native State in direct political relationship with the Government of India, through the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor-General, Punjab States Agency. Bahawalpur is situated between the Punjab and Rajputana, Lat 27° 41' to 30° 22' 15", Long 70° 47' to 74° 1', and bounded on the north-east by the district of Ferozepur; on the east and south by the Rajputana States of Bikaner and Jaisalmer; on the south-west by Sind, and on the north-west by the Indus and Sutlej rivers. Area, 15,000 square miles

The State is about 300 miles in length and about 50 miles wide, is divided lengthwise into three great strips. Of these, the first is a part of the great Indian Desert; the central tract chiefly desert, not capable of cultivation identical with the Bar or Pat uplands of the Western Punjab; and the third a fertile alluvial tract in the river valley is called the Sind. The ruling family is descended from the Abbasside Khalifas of Baghdad. The tribe originally came from Sind, and assumed independence during the dismemberment of the Durrani Empire in the Treaty of Lahore in 1809. Ranjit Singh was confined to the right bank of the Sutlej

The first treaty with Bahawalpur was negotiated in 1833, the year after the treaty with Ranjit Singh for regulating traffic on the Indus. It secured the independence of the Nawab within his own territories, and opened up the traffic on the Indus and Sutlej. During the first Afghan War the Nawab rendered assistance to the British and was rewarded by a grant of territory and life pension. On his death the succession was disputed and for a time the administration of the State was in the hands of the British authorities. The present Nawab is Capt H H Ruku-ul-Daula, Nusrat-i-Jang Hafez-ul-Mulk, Muklis-ud-Daula, Nawab Sir Sadiq Muhammad Khan Bahadur Abbasi V, K.C.S.I., K.C.V.O., who was born in 1904 and succeeded in 1907. During his minority the State was managed by a Council of Regency which ceased to exist in March 1924, when H H The Nawab was invested with full power. His Highness is now assisted in the administration of his State by a Chief Minister, Izzat Nishan, Imad-ul-Mulk, Raisul-Wazra Khan Bahadur, Mr. Nabi Bakish Muhammad Husain, M.A., LL.B., B.O.C.S., a Public Works and Revenue Minister, Mr. C. A. Barran, C.S.I., C.I.E., C.V.O.

The chief crops are wheat, rice and millet. The Lahore-Karachi branch of the North-Western State Railway passes through the State. The State supports an Imperial Service combined Infantry, in addition to other troops. The capital is Bahawalpur, a walled town built in 1748
